

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Steve Wadlow
Central Rockies Wolf Project
403-678-9633
Email: graywolf@expertcanmore.net

Central Rockies Wolf Project Announces Its Annual Wolf Research Seminar on June 23, 2001

CANMORE, ALBERTA, June 1, 2001 – The Central Rockies Wolf Project announces its annual Wolf Research Seminar, to be held in Canmore at St. Michael's Anglican Church Hall on Saturday, June 23rd, from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM.

Seminar Speakers and Topics

- Doug Smith, head of the Yellowstone Wolf Project, will discuss the Yellowstone wolf reintroduction program and its ecological successes.
- Guenther Bloch will present his behavioural research on wolves in the central Rockies.
- Carolyn Callaghan, Co-Director of the Central Rockies Wolf Project, will present her doctoral research on wolves in the central Rockies.
- A Parks Canada representative will discuss wolf conservation from the perspective of Parks Canada.
- Melanie Percy will present her Masters research looking at temporal movements of wolves and bears.
- Patrick Valentino, Executive Director of the California Wolf Center, will present on reintroduction efforts with the Mexican wolf in the southwestern United States.
- Giulia Volpi will discuss the science of fladry and its use in reducing conflict between wolves and the working ranch.

Anyone with an interest in wolves is encouraged to attend. Admission is $15.00, and seating is limited; interested parties are urged to book seating now. Call Steve Wadlow, CRWP Outreach Coordinator at 403-678-9633 for ticket information, or email graywolf@expertcanmore.net. This research seminar is generously sponsored by The Good Earth Cafes.

About the Central Rockies Wolf Project

The Central Rockies Wolf Project is a non-profit, charitable organization working towards the long-term conservation of wolves through research and education. For more information, please visit our web site: www.wolfawareness.ca.